Jeff Lafleur, Superintendent of Solid Waste

So last year as you recall, I went to – I came forward to you people to approve $850,000 or so dollars from the State to do a PFAS Pilot Program. We got those proceeds, we went out to bid, we got a vendor and everything, and we found out that it was going to be a little bit more money so we approached the State and they agreed to give us the rest of the funding to finish off the project. So this is that added monies that are needed to continue the process.
