Facilitator: Bobbie Bagley

Location: Zoom

Minutes

Discussion

- The committee discussed legal and facilitation barriers to reviewing overdose cases. Reviews have not begun because confidentiality is uncertain. It was explained why the committee had not progressed to local case reviews: the city lacked an outside facilitator, and existing legal requirements created confidentiality concerns. The group discussed the limitations of holding the reviews as either a community meeting or an official city committee, then considered possible facilitator organizations.
- Case Review Value and Gap Analysis Collaboration. It was described how case reviews could reveal service gaps and guide responses for families and people who survive overdoses. Coordination with the gap analysis committee was proposed, but concerns were also raised about committee's limited timeline and scope; no decision was made.
- Southern New Hampshire Doorways declined over liability concerns.
- An outside facilitator could support reviews with city partners contributing data.
